Ecocriticism Review
No.13 2020
CONTENTS

Foreword
■ A Retrospective on the 25th Anniversary of SES-Japan and a Report on the Special Lectures by Professor Ursula Heise in Japan ................................................................. ITOH Shoko 1

Special Lecture
■ Atomic Bomb Literature of Animals: A Study of Poems of the Atomic Bomb ⋯ KAWAGUCHI Takayuki 11

Symposium: Canadian Literature and Environment: Stories of Land and Natural Resources
■ Summary of the Symposium ................................................................. MATSUNAGA Kyoko 22
■ Resources, Industry, and Environment in Atlantic Canada: A Study on Jonathan Campbell’s Tarcadia ................................................................. ARAKI Yoko 23
■ Industrial Development and Aboriginal Communities in Canada’s Northwest Coast: With a Focus on Eden Robinson’s Works ................................................................. MURO Junko 33
■ Transpacific Uranium Narratives: Village of Widows and Indigenous Literature in Canada ................................................................. MATSUNAGA Kyoko 43

Article
■ Dolphin, Remade: Shifting Animal Values in the Flipper Films ................................................................. JAY ALABASTER 54
■ Rethinking the “Convergence” of Ecocriticism and Postcolonialism: Intentions and Methods of Postcolonial Ecocriticism ................................................................. NISHI Ryota 65
■ Travelers in Ecological Communities—Rereading Sarah Orne Jewett in the Age of Ethical Turn ................................................................. KIDO Mitsuyo 76

Series: Ecocriticism Masterpieces: Reading Transatlantic Literary Ecologies
■ Introduction to the Series ................................................................ ASAI Chiaki 87
■ Ch. 4 “Reading the ‘book of nature’: Thomas Cole and the British Romantics” by Samantha C. Harvey ................................................................................................ ASAI Chiaki 88
■ Ch. 6 “(Un)settling desires: erotics and ecologies in Nathaniel Hawthorne’s transatlantic romances” by Daniel Hannah .................................................................................... ONO Misa 90
■ Ch. 9 “Mark Twain’s The Innocents Abroad, transatlantic travel writing, and the desolation of the Holy Land” by Joshua Mabie .................................................................................. NAKAMURA Yoshio 92
■ Ch. 10 “No region for tourists and women’: Isabella Bird, local ecology, and the transatlantic sphere” by Amanda Adams .................................................................................... TSUJI Shoko 94

Eulogy
■ In Memory of Professor Keiko Fujie ................................................................................................ ASAI Chiaki 96
■ In Memory of Associate Professor Shinya Matsuoka .................................................................................... MINATO Keiji 97

A Record of Twenty-Five Years of SES-Japan Activities ........................................................................... ITOH Shoko & MIZUNO Atsuko 98

Program of the 32nd Ecocriticism Studies Conference (2019 Summer)
The Regulations of the Society for Ecocriticism Studies in Japan
Manuscript Submission
Editor’s Postscript

The Society for Ecocriticism Studies in Japan